TEAM WORK counts in Radio too. Unless valves work together harmoniously reception will never be at its best. That is why BENJAMIN Valves should be used in every stage. They have been designed as a team which, working together, will give results far surpassing those that can be obtained with any other valves, in any other way. Anode and filament are very close together, and therefore the electrons traverse a very short path. This increases amplification. A specially designed filament consumes less current. Tone is improved. Ask your dealer or write for descriptive leaflet giving curves.
